THE REF AUCTION IS BACK!

The Auction Committee of the Research and Education Foundation is pleased to announce the REF Auction to be held at the annual meeting in Philadelphia. The proceeds will help to fund research on labor arbitration that is vital to our field. We have already received some wonderful donations for Auction items will be on display for viewing and bidding starting Wednesday evening, May 29, 2019. Prominent signs will list open hours and the room designation. Come early and bid often!

Among the items pledged include a tour of the beautiful Sedona landscape, a New England Lobster Dinner, and gorgeous Mexican pottery. Popular items that attract generous bids have been stays at vacation condos, sports memorabilia, rare quality wine and whisky, historic items from the labor movement, and both painted and photographic art work.

This is your opportunity to clear closets and attics of cherished items that need a new home, knowing they will be treasured by their successful bidders, AND will help to increase the number of worthy projects REF grants can support in the coming years.

Donated items are tax-deductible donation, so feel free to be creative in your donation. (Canadian members should check with their tax advisors.)

If you have an item or service to donate, the donation form may be found on the NAA Web Site under the REF link. The form may be sent to the NAA Operations center or e-mailed to any of the members of the auction committee. If you have questions about the auction, or about items to donate, please contact any member of the committee Sheila Mayberry - sgmayberry@gmail.com or Mariann Schick - schickarb@comcast.net). Please help us make this auction a real success!
